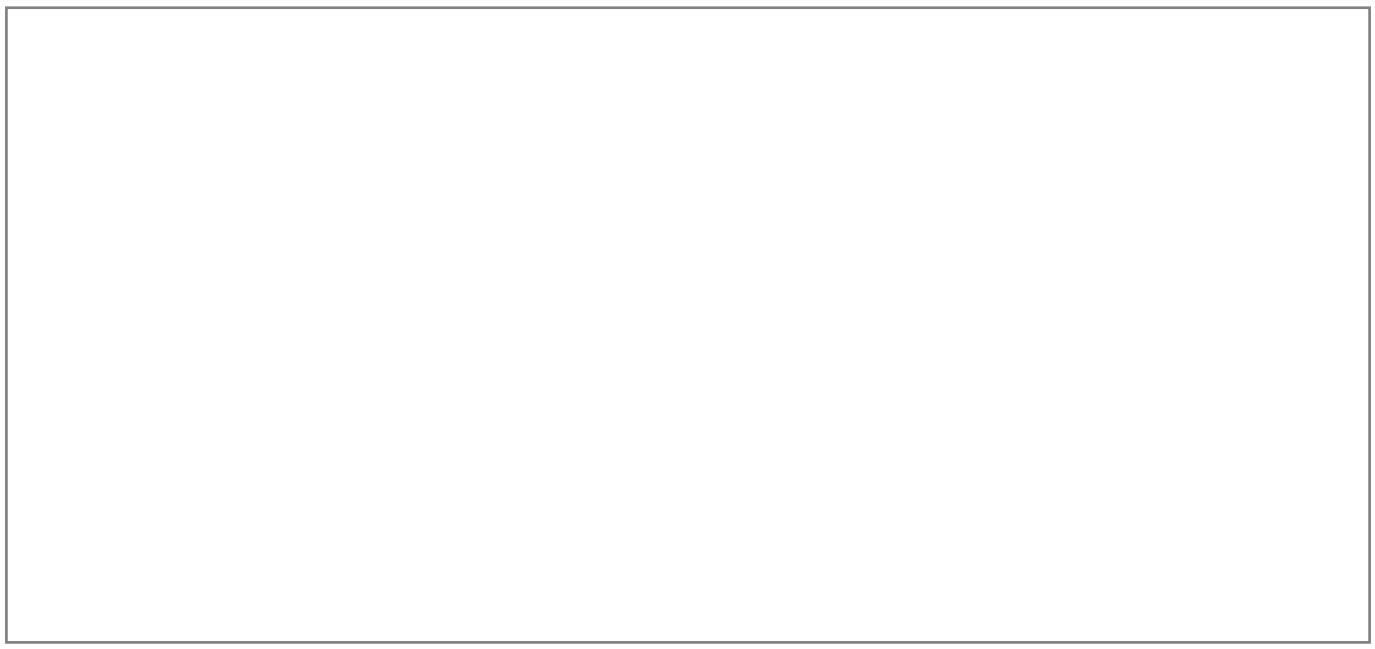
Asking to Join a Game



My name is _____. Sometimes I see other children playing a game.

I may want to play too. I may feel excited or nervous.

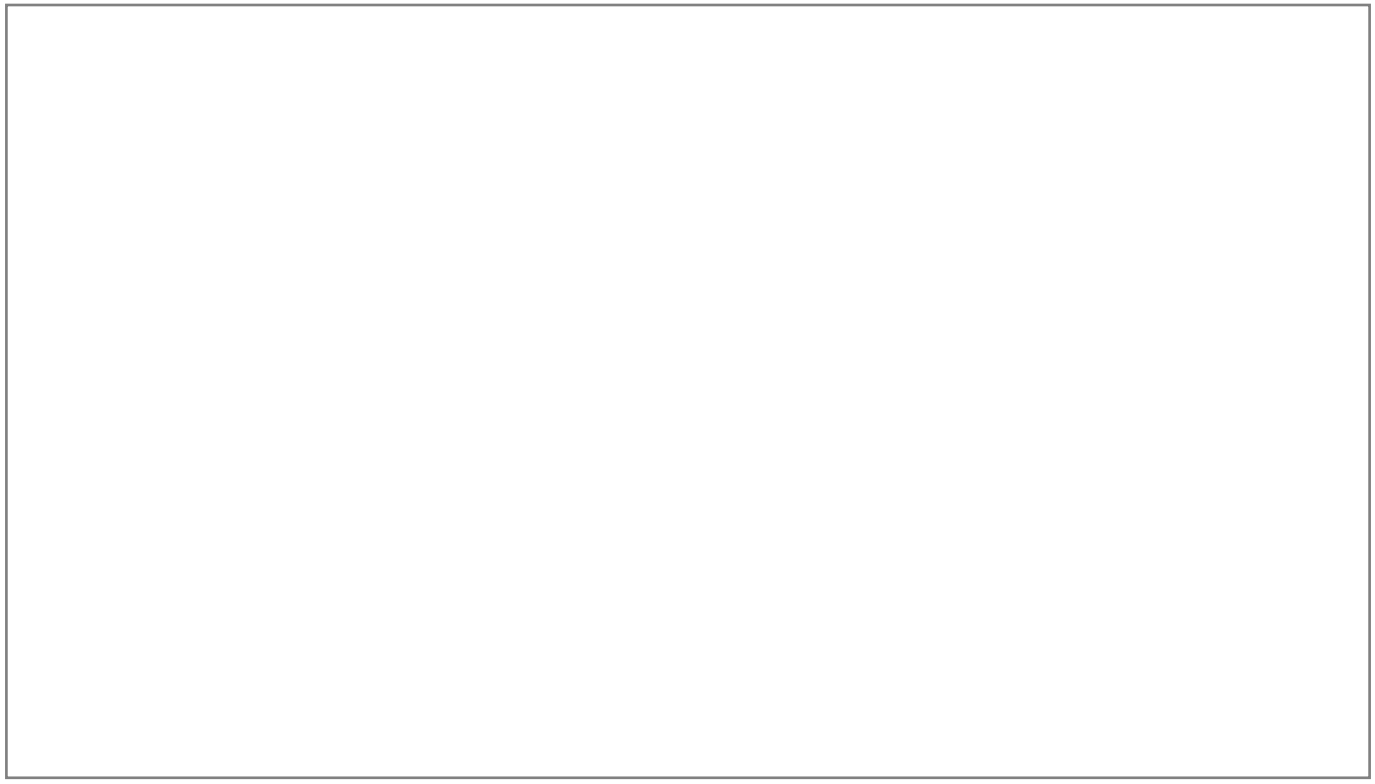
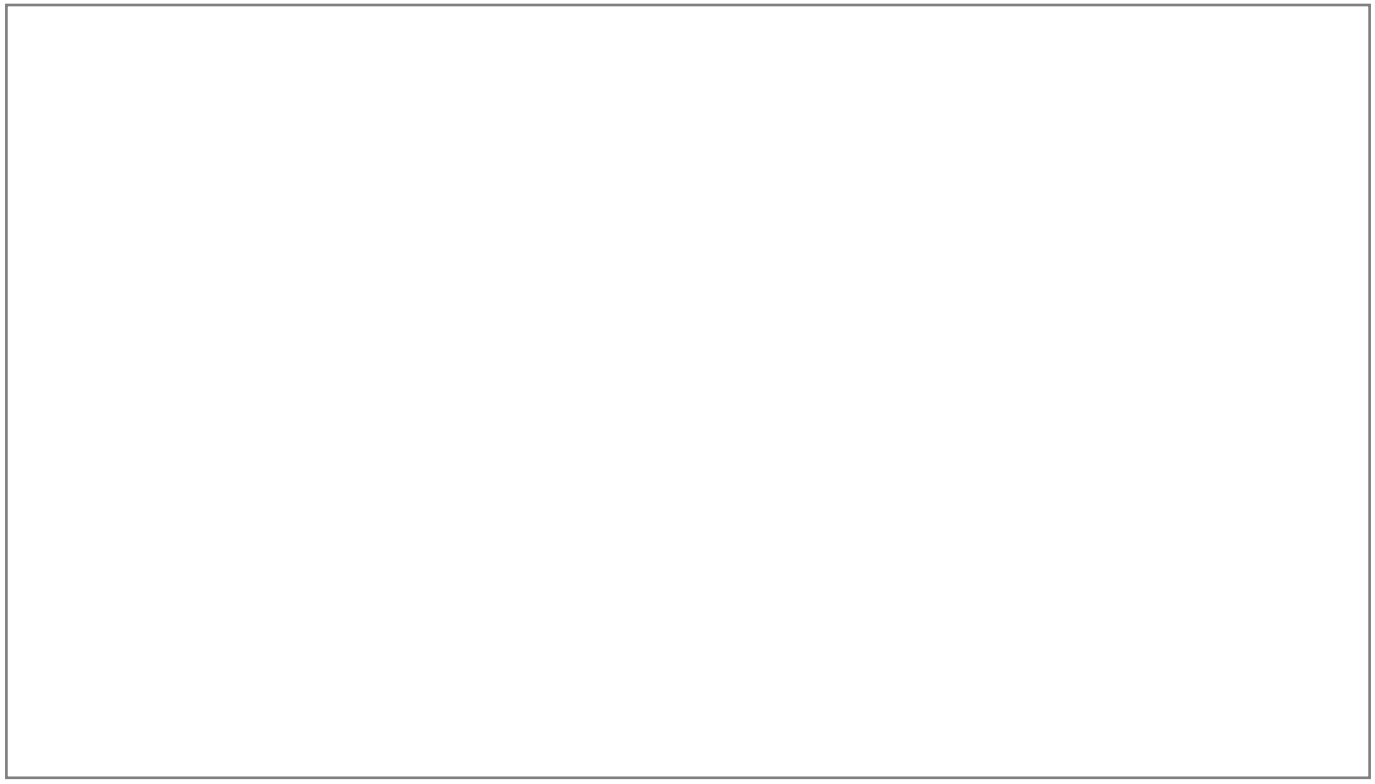
I can watch first to see how the game works.



I can walk closer and say, "Can I play?"

Sometimes the answer is yes. Then I can join in.



Sometimes the answer is not now. That can feel disappointing.

I can ask someone else, play another game, or try again later.

Asking to play is a brave thing to do.
